Teen's Gaga dream comes true

Duet wish granted. 'I always had her music to guide me through,' says local singer

LUCY SCHOLEY
lucy.scholey@metronews.ca

Lady Gaga says we're already born superstars, but the pop sensation made a mini-celebrity of Ottawa teen Michelle Treacy on Wednesday night.

The 17-year-old was invited onstage at the Bell Centre in Montreal to join Gaga at her piano before 14,000 people. Wearing a sparkly body suit, glittering baseball hat and six-inch heels, Treacy belted out part of her original song, Gold Boy, with Lady Gaga on back-up. Then the two sang Born This Way.

"And then she started to jump like a girl. Like a little happy girl. Like when girls get together and they jump up and down when they're excited. And I could have passed out right there," said Treacy, who can be seen in a YouTube video filmed by her teary-eyed older brother, Matt.

Treacy's phone and inbox have been buzzing since. She's talking with a few record labels and her Ohio-based manager is pushing for a recording of both songs Treacy sung onstage.

It was not the recent high school graduate's first brush with Lady Gaga — she said she has met her a few times before, but has never before been given the chance to sing with her on stage. She has also had other brushes with stardom. Rihanna handed her a microphone to sing one line of a song during a show at the then-named Scotiabank Place. She said she also once met another major star, Lana Del Rey.

But Treacy feels she has a special connection with Lady Gaga, the champion of underdogs and misfits.

"I was really badly bullied throughout high school and she was really a good role model to me," Treacy said. "To not care about what anyone else said, not care about what anyone else thought of me and not care how badly they pushed me down, because I always had her music to guide me through and her to say, 'Dreams will come true.' You just have to believe and you have to have no doubt in your mind that it will happen."

Treacy talks a lot about fate and her practice of making two wishes when the clock hits 11:11 every day.

"One, to sing with Lady Gaga and two, to sell out Madison Square Garden, so I've done one. I'm working on the next one."

Treacy will be at Lady Gaga's show at RBC Royal Bank Bluesfest on Saturday, but now that her dream of gracing the stage with her idol is over, she plans to just enjoy the show.

NHLer Giroux apologizes for 'misguided attempt' at humour

Police chief defends force over 'courtesy call' to Flyers

National Hockey League player Claude Giroux issued a statement late Thursday about his arrest on Canada Day in Ottawa, but he wasn't the only public figure with some explaining to do.

Ottawa Police Chief Charles Bordeleau was also speaking to media about a "courtesy call," made to Giroux's NHL team, the Philadelphia Flyers, confirming the player's arrest and the fact that he wouldn't be charged even as police refused to say anything to local media about the incident, which allegedly involved alcohol and grabbing the buttocks of an Ottawa police officer.

licly," Bordeleau told CBC Radio. He said that in cases where an arrest garners significant attention, police will contact a organization such as a school board or, in this case, Giroux's hockey team.

He said no details of the incident were given to the Flyers, although he said that the team was told no charges were going to be laid. He insisted there was no preferential treatment in the case.

In an emailed statement Giroux said:

"I regret my actions on Canada Day and sincerely apologize to my fans, teammates and the Philadelphia Flyers organization for my misguided attempt at humor."

Laureen Harper 're-inspires' local designer

Designer Nina Saab. AMY YEE/FOR METRO

You might say a local handbag designer is "totes" thrilled.

On July 1, during the capital's Canada Day festivities on Parliament Hill, Laureen Harper, wife of Prime Minister Stephen Harper, donned one of local designer Nina Saab's handbags.

Saab's son, a friend of Harper's son Ben, graduated with Ben on June 27 from Lisgar Collegiate Institute. At the ceremony, Saab gave a few of her handbags to Harper as a thank-you gift for having had her son over.

Saab confided to Harper of the issues she was facing trying to sell her handbags.

"She said to me, 'Don't give up on your dream,' said Saab. "She's such a lovely lady and she has fantastic style."

The salon director at Saab Salon Spa began designing the handbags late last year. Since then she's received rejection after rejection. Saab was ready to give up and call it quits.

But on July 1, Saab was shocked to see Harper carrying the handbag when she turned on the television, she said.

"Laureen Harper just re-inspired me," said Saab.

Saab first had the idea when she realized it was a niche market.

"There was nothing out there that you could buy for Canada Day for a lady, like if you're wearing a nice dress or going out for dinner — something to carry, to be patriotic," she said. AMY YEE/FOR METRO

Solo artist saddles up with big band for big blues sound

Matt Andersen and company. Set to croon at Ottawa Bluesfest Saturday

TREVOR GREENWAY
trevor.greenway@metronews.ca

Matt Andersen is heading to RBC Ottawa Bluesfest Saturday and this time he's bringing the whole family.

Well, his work family, that is.

The 33-year-old blues guitarist and vocalist is changing things up a bit with a full band — the Mellotones — a nine-piece Halifax party favourite with a full horn section, keyboards, bass and drums.

It's a rare lineup for the mainly solo blues act, but Andersen wanted to treat Ottawa concertgoers to a bigger sound. The complement of a full band behind one of most powerful blues voices today will help Andersen recreate the sound of his latest album, Weightless, released early in 2014.

"I wanted to kind of mix it up and represent more of what is on the album," Andersen told Metro Thursday from Vermont, where he is currently on tour. "I've played Bluesfest two or three times solo and a lot of the other ones I have done solo before, so we wanted to bring something different this time. It's still me singing and playing, but we have a four-piece horn section.

"It's a big sound, there is lots more going on. It's a lot of fun to play that way, too. I miss not having the harmonies that you get when you play with a band live."

Matt Andersen and the Mellotones play the Claridge Homes Stage Saturday at 6 p.m.

Matt Andersen is seen here performing at the Ottawa Folk Festival on Friday, Sept 6th, 2013. CONTRIBUTED

High-schoolers tackle future at elite science camp

Carleton University's Vice President Provost Peter Rickets introduces this year's Shad Valley theme to a group of gifted high-school students.

How to reduce our carbon footprint and make a sustainable world — that's the hot topic of the 21st century and the subject 52 high school students will tackle this month at Carleton University.

This July, the school is hosting its 26th edition of Shad Valley, a program that gathers the best of the best from Grades 10 to 12 to focus on a mixture of sciences and entrepreneurship for four weeks. The program is open to students from across Canada and costs $4,100 per participant.

"We take the very bright students, harness that power and make them even better," said program assistant and Shad Valley alumnus Craig Lord.

The application for the program is rigorous, he added, with admission requiring strong academics, volunteer experience and leadership skills among other things.

During the program, participants take part in lectures, workshops and recreational activities while also tasked with making a final presentation on sustainability.

George Padeigis, a 16-year-old from Mississauga, was eager to join the program after hearing about it from another student. The program, he said, has been inspiring.

"I truly believe that we're all amongst tomorrow's leaders," he said. "I want to be part of that future."

And while the students are constantly learning, the program isn't like a regular school curriculum, said Padeigis.

"At school we're always looking towards an end task, a specific assignment. Here at Shad Valley we're looking at solutions for real-life problems."

Sylvia Luyben, a 17-year-old from Peterborough, said she has high hopes for the final project.

"Sustainable projects are difficult to make work in the real world ... so I'm hoping with this project we can find a way to help with one small aspect that can really start going towards a global community," she said.

The public is invited to view the students' final presentations at the university on July 24. AMY YEE/FOR METRO

Jawed suffered minor injuries, but Muckhtar was rushed from the scene with life-threatening injuries and died at hospital. If anyone has information about the collision, they are asked to contact Renfrew OPP at 613-432-3211. AMY YEE/FOR METRO

Calypso headed for trial in chlorine gas spill that sent kids to hospital

A trial date was set today for an Ottawa area water park where a chlorine gas spill in a wave pool sent 13 children to hospital in August 2012.

Calypso Theme Water-

park in Limoges is facing eight charges under the Environmental Protection Act, including discharging chlorine gas and failure to notify the Ministry of Environment.

The trial date was set Thursday for March 23, 2015 in provincial court in L'Original, Ont.

CHL import draft

Ottawa 67's add offence in Russian sniper

The Ottawa 67's added some Russian flair to the team Wednesday when they selected forward Artur Tyanulin in the CHL import draft.

The winger was dominant in the 2014 U-17 World Championships, notching seven goals and 12 points in just six games.

Ottawa 67's GM Pat Higgins hopes Tyanulin will bring his explosive scoring touch to the OHL over the next few seasons.

"He's a point-a-game player in his league. He is an offensively gifted player that we hope that in the next two to three years will be able to provide offense for the Ottawa 67s."

Anything Is Possible

This is the story of a sheep who, from the top of her hill, watched the birds fly and thought to herself: "How lucky they are! They can choose how they look at things: from far away, from up close, or from somewhere in between."

One day, the sheep had an idea and ran to see the wolf. "I have to talk to you!" she shouted. He stopped what he was doing and listened. "Let's build a flying machine!"

"Do you think it's that simple?! You spend too much time watching the birds in the sky," said the wolf, shaking his head. But eventually the sheep's dream got the better of the wolf's doubts, and they started working on the machine together.

They gathered fabric and rods and followed the plans they had designed. When they were ready, they started the machine and took off into the sky. But the fabric wasn't strong enough. It soon ripped and they tumbled to the ground. "Let's try again," said the sheep, and she blew up some balloons.

"Hold tight!" she shouted. This time, as soon as they got the machine off the ground, birds popped the balloons. "Oh dear!" shouted the wolf. "This is never going to work!" But they decided to try one more time. The sheep had a new idea. She got the wolf to cut out a dragon's tail, while she cut out a head. This time, it worked. They were flying! And, steadily and surely, they continued to fly.

Someone once wrote that only those who dream learn to fly. "See?" said the sheep. "What did I tell you?" "Anything is possible," admitted the wolf. The sky before them was wide open.

Mr. King's Castle

Mr. King lives on top of a BIG hill. He wants to build himself a BIG castle. Mr. King likes BIG things. CHOP! CHOP! CHOP! Mr. King starts chopping off blocks to build his castle. He is too busy to notice the BIG holes he is leaving behind.

CHOP! CHOP! CHOP! Mr. King's friends come running. "What is that NOISE?" "What are these HOLES?" "What are these BLOCKS?"

Mr. King is too busy to hear them. Block by block, bit by bit, his castle is getting BIGGER and BIGGER.

Mr. King chops until there is nothing left to chop and builds until there is nothing left to build with. Then he stops and proudly looks out the window. "Hmm...there isn't much of a view," says Mr. King.

Down below, his friends are grumbling. "What happened to the hill?" ask Bert and Tex. "What happened to my favorite napping spot?" asks Harriet. "Where are the flowers?" wonders Old Jim Elk. "What happened to the grass I eat?" asks P.J. "And where is our secret stash of nuts?!" cry Skit and Skat. One by one, they gather under the castle window. Everyone is staring at Mr. King, and suddenly he feels very small.

"Uh-oh. That was a BIG mistake," he says after a while. "Maybe I should put everything back."

"YAY!!" All his friends jump up to help. Together they start taking down the BIG castle, block by block, bit by bit. And block by block, bit by bit, they put everything back just like it was before.

...Well, ALMOST like it was before. "There is one piece left," says Mr. King. "But I don't see where it fits. What shall we do with it?"

After whispering to the others, Tex says: "Close your eyes. We have an idea." When Mr. King opens his eyes, his friends sing out "SURPRISE!!" Tonight, in his small castle, Mr. King is going to have a BIG party!

THE MOST MAGNIFICENT THING

AUTHOR/ILLUSTRATOR: Ashley Spires
PUBLISHED BY: Kids Can Press

This is a regular girl and her best friend in the whole wide world. They do all kinds of things together. They race. They eat. They explore. They relax. She makes things. He unmakes things.

One day, the girl has a wonderful idea. She is going to make the most MAGNIFICENT thing!

She knows just how it will look. She knows just how it will work. All she has to do is make it, and she makes things all the time. Easy-peasy!

First, she hires an assistant. Next, they gather their supplies. They set up somewhere out of the way and get to work.

The girl tinkers and hammers and measures...while her assistant pounces and growls and chews. When she is finished, she steps back to admire her work. She walks around one side. Her assistant examines the other side... It doesn't look right. Her assistant picks it up and gives it a shake. It doesn't feel right, either.

They are shocked to discover that the thing isn't magnificent. Or good. It isn't even kind-of-sort-of okay. It is all WRONG. The girl tosses it aside and gives it another go. She smooths and wrenches and fiddles. Her assistant circles and tugs and wags.

When she is finished, she stands up and takes a long look at it. Her assistant gives it a nudge with his paw. The thing is still wrong. She decides to try again.

SPORK

AUTHOR: Kyo Maclear

Spork was neither spoon nor fork...
...but a bit of both.

He had a mum and a dad...
...who both thought he was perfect just the way he was.

But Spork stuck out. In his kitchen, forks were forks and spoons were spoons. Cutlery customs were followed closely. Mixing was uncommon. Naturally, there were rule breakers: knives who loved chopsticks, tongs who married forks. But such families were unusual.

One day, after the billionth time he was asked "What are you, anyway?" and the zillionth time he was passed over when the table was being set...

...Spork sighed and thought, "It must be easier to be a single thing." And he decided he'd try to pick just one thing to be.

He thought he should start by fixing his head. He put on a bowler hat to look more spoonish. But the forks thought he was too round.

Then he made a paper crown to look more forkish. But the spoons thought he was too pointy. Spork wondered if there were other lonely creatures out there with no matching kind, who never got chosen to be at the table.

At dinnertime, he watched from the drawer while the spoons played pea hockey and skillfully balanced boiled eggs. He sat off to the side while the forks raked fancy patterns in the mashed potatoes and twirled noodles around in complicated circles like rhythmic gymnasts. And at the end of this and every other meal, Spork looked on while the others enjoyed a super-bubbly bath in the sink.

Until one morning, a messy thing arrived.

Sex killer Bernardo engaged?

'Love' behind bars.

Lawyer for families of murdered schoolgirls says Bernardo should not be given any privileges

Convicted killer Paul Bernardo is serving an indeterminate sentence for the slayings of two schoolgirls, a dozen rapes and more than two dozen other sex offences — but there are still women who reportedly want to marry him.

The latest is reported to be a 30-year-old university graduate from London, Ont., who began corresponding with Bernardo last fall, according to QMI news agency.

Corrections Canada declines to comment on individual cases.

Tim Danson, a lawyer for the families of the murdered schoolgirls, has plenty to say. "He should not be given any privileges," Danson told the Toronto Star on Thursday.

Marriage to a convict

- If the marriage did take place, Corrections Canada would determine if Bernardo would be allowed to meet with his wife behind bars.
- Prisoners are permitted private visits of up to 72 hours once every two months. A former Millhaven inmate told the Toronto Star that prisoners often are able to increase that visiting time in swaps with other inmates.

He also said the woman who considers herself to be Bernardo's fiancée needs plenty of help. "People close to her have to reach out to her and save her from herself," Danson said. "Just the thought of it is disturbing."

Danson said he highly doubts Bernardo will ever get out of prison.

Still, there are plenty of women who struggle to make contact with him through letters. One website for prisoners' families features a hot discussion on whether it's right to try to make contact with Bernardo.

"I write to Paul all the time, I send him cards and no I don't have a fetish for concrete!" a woman who identified herself as "shoes" wrote. "I have read many books on his crimes and for some reason I hold compassion for him. Its deep in my bones and I can't let it go."

Another woman, who identified herself as "brandy99," wrote that she can see a difference between Bernardo the man and Bernardo the criminal. "His crimes aren't what intrigues me it's him," she wrote.

Bernardo made the news last summer, when Steven Blaney, federal minister of public safety and emergency preparedness, said Bernardo would not be enjoying a transfer from ancient Kingston Penitentiary to a more comfortable medium-security prison.

Bernardo is now believed to be housed in Millhaven Penitentiary in Kingston.

Bride-to-be

'Paul's girl' believes he is innocent

In a report published on Thursday, the Quebec-owned QMI does not name the 30-year-old bride-to-be. It says that even her family doesn't believe the ceremony behind bars will ever take place.

According to QMI, the couple first met last fall after she wrote Bernardo, and the bride-to-be believes he is innocent even though he made videos of his victims in captivity.

"He has convinced her that he didn't do this (rapes or murders)," her father told QMI.

QMI says the bride-to-be has a tattoo on her ankle that says "Paul's girl," and the engagement has caused tensions within her family.

Throne speech marred by Moody's debt rating

Ontario's Liberals are promising big spending as well as restraint in a throne speech that lays out their agenda for the next decade and beyond.

They're promising to be fiscally responsible by curbing spending to meet their goal of eliminating the $12.5-billion deficit in three years.

But they also plan to spend $130 billion on public infrastructure over 10 years as well as other measures to help grow Ontario's economy.

The speech, written by the Liberals but read by Lt.-Gov. David Onley, says the government will also invest in education, skills training and corporate grants to boost the province's economic potential.

But they cautioned there's no money for wage increases in the broader public sector as new contract talks loom on the horizon.

They say voters gave them the green light when they returned them to power with a majority of seats in the legislature.

"This means your government will implement its plan by convening people first, instead of directing them," Onley

Premier Kathleen Wynne attends the throne speech at Queen's Park in Toronto Thursday. CHRIS YOUNG/THE CANADIAN PRESS said. "It will not invite your questions only after decisions are taken, but as decisions are made."

One of those decisions was the costly cancellation of two gas plants, which has dogged them for years. A legislative committee looking into the cancellations was to hear from more witnesses before the June 12 election was called.

The speech promised more government transparency and accountability, but the Liberals didn't promise more hearings, only that they would take steps to allow the committee to write its report.

What was supposed to be a banner day for the re-elected Liberals started on a sour note.

Moody's debt rating agency changed its outlook on Ontario's debt rating from stable to negative late Wednesday, citing concerns about the Liberal government's ability to slay the $12.5-billion deficit in three years.

It didn't change the province's debt ratings, but a downgrade would increase the cost of borrowing — which currently adds up to $11 billion a year.

The Liberals insist they can balance the books without eliminating public sector jobs or cutting public services, and they won't change their budget.

The budget, which will be re-introduced on July 14, was the foundation and frame of the throne speech, which reiterated many other measures in the $130.4-billion spending blueprint, such as creating a made-in-Ontario pension plan.

Israel gathering military forces on Gaza border

Hamas. Increased wave of rocket fire out of Gaza has further stoked tensions since three Israeli teens were found dead last week

The Israeli military rushed additional forces to its southern border with the Gaza Strip on Thursday, vowing to halt a growing wave of rocket fire from the Palestinian territory. Meanwhile, new clashes erupted in east Jerusalem in response to the death of an Arab boy who Palestinians say was killed by Israeli extremists.

a defence measure. But persistent rocket fire raised the prospects of a tough Israeli response, with the military saying more than 40 rockets or mortar shells were fired from Hamas-controlled Gaza on Thursday.

Tensions have been high since three Israeli teenagers were abducted in the West Bank on June 12, sparking a massive manhunt that ended with the discovery of their bodies early this week. Israel has blamed Hamas for the abductions and launched a crackdown on the Islamic militant group in the West Bank, drawing rocket attacks out of Gaza and Israeli airstrikes in a near-daily cycle of retaliation.

The situation deteriorated further on Wednesday after the burned body of a Palestinian youth, whose identity was confirmed Thursday as Mohammed Abu Khdeir, was found in a forest after he was seized near his home in east Jerusalem. The Palestinians accused Israeli extremists of killing the teen in a revenge attack over the deaths of the Israeli youths.

Pistorius called a 'paradox'

Oscar Pistorius is a "paradox" whose past triumphs as a sprinter crossing the finish line with raised arms contrasted sharply with the daily, severe limitations that he endured because of his disability, a physician testified Thursday at the runner's murder trial.

Wayne Derman, a professor of sport and exercise medicine at the University of Cape Town, said in court that the contrast likely contributed to stress and anxiety for Pistorius, who fatally shot girlfriend Reeva

Steenkamp through a closed toilet door in his home. He testified for the defence, which wants to show that the athlete had a deep sense of vulnerability and it was a factor in what he has described as a mistaken shooting. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Indiegogo's mobile app comes to Canada first

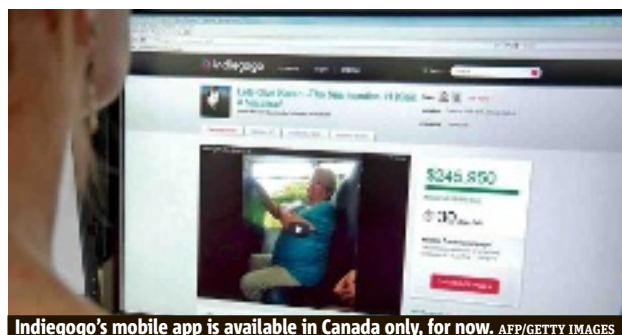

Finally! For once, our country gets something before the rest of the world. Okay, so it's an app for a crowdfunding platform ... We'll take it Indiegogo, which bills itself as the world's largest crowdfunding platform, is looking to grow with a move into mobile apps — starting in Canada.

The San Francisco-based company announced Thursday that Canadians are getting early access to its first mobile app, which is now available on Apple's App Store. The app will be rolling out to other countries in a couple of months, said Indiegogo CEO Slava Rubin.

"Canada is a really important country for us, in terms of volume, it's the second-largest country for us in the world ... and we send money to 70 to 100 countries a week," said Rubin, who added that an app for Google Android devices is expected before year's end. "The Canadian users have been great with their feedback and we feel like it's a great opportunity."

Entrepreneurs — or anyone with an idea — can post a fundraising drive on Indiegogo and seek supporters to help pay for their plan. Supporters are typically offered rewards in exchange for donating to help to get the idea off the ground.

Rubin said mobile usage on Indiegogo has grown dramatically in recent years and the new app is designed to help users support or launch campaigns on the go.

"We see the mobile app as an extension of where we're moving forward with our innovation," he said.

"I would say if we were starting Indiegogo from scratch today and there was nothing else existing, there's a good chance we would go mobile-only. Adding apps is just an extension of where the market and customers are taking us."

Master trainers of cormorants dressed in ancient costume freely manipulate 10 to 12 wild sea cormorants to skillfully catch small trout.

This fishing is performed every night between May 11 and Oct. 15 except during a full moon or in heavy rain.

The only illuminations are the pine torches lit on the boats.

Master trainers of cormorants belong to the Imperial Household Agency, and an important duty of theirs is to make offerings of small trout to the Emperor.

It is prescribed that in each generation the eldest son succeeds his father, and these men live with cormorants in order to train them every day.

How it all goes down

Beginning at dusk, each fisherman leads about a dozen cormorants on leashes who swim alongside the boat and dive under the water to catch fish by swallowing them whole.

- The fish are kept in a special pouch in the cormorant's throat to be retrieved later.
- The fish are prevented from being swallowed by a snare around the neck of the bird.

Rob Cantor here has a pretty solid knack for celebrity impressions, especially female performers. And in places where he doesn't get the voice exactly down, he nails the mannerisms.

But this isn't your standard "Said Number Of Celebrity Impressions In Three Minutes" clip. Instead, Mr. Cantor is taking his talents to YouTube to promote his new album by throwing his impressions at an original song.

Seriously, though. The female impressions are absurdly close. (robcantor/YouTube)

Enjoy the Apes of summer

Reel Guys

RICHARD CROUSE AND MARK BRESLIN

Hot weather, cool movies. Sci-fi adventure, biopics, mature romantic comedy and sex are all on moviegoers' menu this summer

Richard: Mark, I was a huge Planet of the Apes fan as a kid. Loved the rubber masks, the twisty endings and the "YOU MANIACS! YOU BLEW IT UP!" scene still blows my mind.

Saw them over and over, and even enjoyed the bad ones like Conquest of the Planet of the Apes.

Today, as an adult, I have a full-sized Cornelius bust with faux chimpanzee hair in my office. So, given my obsession with simian cinema, my inner 14-year-old goes a bit ape every time I see the Dawn of the Planet of the Apes trailer. What's got you excited this summer?

Mark: I'm a Planet of the Apes fan, too, Richard. The idea of animals acting like humans is a welcome change from my life in show business, where humans act like animals.

I'm really looking forward to Lucy, starring Scarlett Johansson in a Luc Besson revenge/action flick.

This is Scarlett's moment, and this is going to be the movie to make her a megastar. The trailer made me spill my popcorn!

RC: Johansson is doing interesting work these days, splitting her time between rock 'em, sock 'em movies like Captain America: The Winter Soldier and smaller movies like Chef and Under the Skin.

Michael Fassbender has a similar career arc. We last saw him in X-Men: Days of Future Past. Next up he's in Frank, a strange indie based on the life of Frank Sidebottom, a real-life English musician who wore a giant papier-mâché head complete with painted-on eyes, ruby red lips and slicked-back hair.

I love Fassbender for still taking chances on movies like this when he could easily cash big Hollywood paycheques time after time.

MB: Sounds like one strange biopic, Richard! A more commercial variant I'm looking forward to is Get On Up, the James Brown story starring Chadwick Boseman. The Godfather of Soul never wore a papier-mâché head, but he was big on ermine capes and tantrums, so this should be a lot of fun. And what a soundtrack it will be!

For life lessons and laughs, there's And So It Goes, a mature rom-com starring Michael Douglas and Diane Keaton. Bring your CARP card for discounts on soft-chew treats from the concession stand.

RC: I don't have a CARP card yet. I do like soft chew candies, however.

As far as movies go, I'm curious about Guardians of the Galaxy. So many of the summer's blockbusters have been oh-so-serious affairs

Flick picks

When the Reel Guys aren't at the movies, one of their favourite things to do is talk about going to the movies.

- This week Richard and Mark have a look at talking apes, a vengeful Scarlett Johansson, and a singer with a papier-mâché head and a talking raccoon.
- So throw some popcorn on the BBQ, crank up the air conditioning and enjoy the Reel Guys' most anticipated films of the summer season.

that I think this one promises some good laughs and action.

MB: The cast suggests it might be more than your typical sci-fi adventure. But it's Jason Segel and Cameron Diaz in Sex Tape that gets me hot. Big laughs, lots of action, at least of the horizontal variety.

Ryan Gosling and Rachel McAdams in 2004. ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Gosling and McAdams weren't so cuddly on the set of The Notebook

To mark the 10th anniversary of The Notebook, surely it's appropriate to wax sentimental over the now-iconic love story, or reminisce about the subsequent off-screen romance between co-stars Ryan Gosling and Rachel McAdams.

Or, if you're Notebook director Nick Cassavetes, maybe it's time to tell the world just how much the co-stars disliked each other during filming.

In an interview with VH1, Cassavetes reveals that at one point, their bickering interrupted filming. "Maybe I'm not supposed to tell this story, but they were really not getting along one day on set. Really not. And Ryan came to me, and there's 150 people standing in this big scene, and he says, 'Nick come here.' And he's doing a scene with Rachel and he says, 'Would you take her out of here and bring in another actress to read off camera with me?' I said, 'What?' He says, 'I can't. I can't do it with her. I'm just not getting anything from this.'"

How did Cassavetes deal with that one? Apparently, he arranged for the stars to, er, talk it out. "We went into a room with a producer; they started screaming and yelling at each other. I walked out. At that point I was smoking cigarettes. I smoked a cigarette and everybody came out like, 'All right, let's do this.' And it got better after that, you know? They had it out ... I think Ryan respected her for standing up for her character and Rachel was happy to get that out in the open. The rest of the film wasn't smooth sailing, but it was smoother sailing." METRO

OUR TAKE ON THE WORLD OF CELEBRITIES

The Word

Adam Levine takes on his first movie role pro bono

MELINDA TAUB
Metro in New York City

Adam Levine is an attractive person. In fact, being attractive may be the thing he's best at, including being the rock star frontman for Maroon 5. So he should be totally fine monetizing that attractiveness on the silver screen, right?

Not so fast. Levine says he wants to take things slow as he learns his cinematic craft — that's why he took on his role in Begin Again, opposite Keira Knightley, as more or less an unpaid intern.

"I did this movie for no money. I'm very lucky that I'm in that position," he told USA Today. "I want to have good experiences. I don't want to do a bunch of (expletive) that I hate. I want to treat (acting) completely differently because I have the very fortunate luxury of not having to think of this in terms of money."

Between Maroon 5 and The Voice, Levine will probably never have to think of anything in terms of money again, up to and including trips to space, but he is a man of simpler pleasures: His favourite thing about being a rock star is apparently restaurants. Adam Levine loves restaurants. "I can get a reservation at any restaurant in town at any town," he says in awe. "And that's the greatest thing about being me. Because I love to eat at many different restaurants."

So putting this all together, I'm pretty sure Adam Levine will star in my web series if I take him to some restaurants. I've gotta go make some calls.

Kim Kardashian and Kanye West

Kim and Kanye may take Manhattan (for a cool $17M)

Newly married couple Kimye are reportedly apartment hunting in New York City, according to People. West already has an apartment in Soho, but apparently it isn't big enough for him, Kardashian and baby North West. Not to mention the ever-present Keeping Up With The Kardashians camera crew.

Kardashian and her mother Kris reportedly looked at an apartment in Greenwich Village, listed for $17.25 million US. According to the New York Post, the apartment boasts six bedrooms, seven bathrooms, private parking and a garden. The mom and daughter duo also reportedly looked at another apartment, on the penthouse floor, with a pool. Decisions, decisions. METRO

For the love of salmon

LIQUID ASSETS

My comments last week that I was determined to master the art of barbecuing salmon prompted some of you to send me everything from your own step-by-step instructions to links to YouTube vids.

I took your advice and, while I'm still no Iron Chef, things turned out just fine. Well, eatable at least.

There's a lot to love about salmon. Not only does it taste fantastic, its adaptability with wine continues to chip away at that old wives' tale that claims only whites go with fish. While your favourite glass of lightly-oaked chardonnay or off-dry riesling would make a good match, my palate prefers red.

With its typically round, plump berry flavours, pinot noir is the grape that's the yin to salmon's yang. Originally from France's Burgundy region, it's now grown worldwide with fantastic versions coming out of South America.

Cono Sur's 2013 Bicicleta Pinot Noir ($10.95 - $12.99) from Chile is one for the budget conscious. Soft and juicy with good varietal personality, it goes swimmingly with meatier fish.

Memphis-Style Baby Back Ribs. Our neighbours to the south are celebrating their independence, and you can join in vicariously with this barbecue staple

1. Prepare a grill for medium-low (about 325 F) indirect cooking. In a charcoal grill, this means banking the hot coals to one side of the grill and cooking the ribs on the cooler side. In a gas grill, this means heating the grill with all burners on, but turning off the burners on one side just before putting the food on that side.

2. Remove silver skin from the backs of the ribs, if desired.

3. Place the soaked wood chips directly on the hot charcoals, or in smoking box if using a gas grill (place the box in the grill according to manufacturer directions). Cover the grill.

4. Rub the cut lemons all over the fronts and backs of the ribs, squeezing to release as much juice as possible. Set aside for 5 minutes, then sprinkle the ribs liberally with the barbecue rub. Let sit for 15 minutes.

5. Place the ribs, bone side down, in the centre of the cooking grate over the cooler side of the grill. Cover the grill and cook 1 1/2 to 2 hours, or until the meat is tender and has pulled back from the ends of the bones. Do not open the grill cover for at least the first 30 minutes. After that, if the ribs start to burn at the edges, stack them on top of one another in the very centre of the grill and lower your heat slightly.

6. Twenty minutes before serving, un-stack the ribs if necessary, then brush with barbecue sauce. Remove the ribs from the grill and let rest 10 minutes before cutting into individual or 2- to 3-rib portions.

7. If desired, additional barbecue sauce can be warmed and served alongside the ribs.

Classic Barbecue Rub

1. In bowl, combine all ingredients. Mix well. For a smoother rub, process the ingredients in a spice grinder until well combined and finely ground. The rub can be stored in an airtight container for up to 6 months.

Ingredients

- 6 lbs baby back ribs
- 3 cups barbecue wood chips, soaked in water for 1 hour
- 2 lemons, halved
- 1/4 cup barbecue rub (see recipe below)
- 16-oz bottle barbecue sauce
- Classic Barbecue Rub
- 3 tbp granulated sugar

- 2 tbsp smoked paprika
- 2 tbsp kosher salt
- 2 tbsp packed dark brown sugar
- 1 tbsp ground cumin
- 1 tbsp ground black pepper
- 1 tbsp onion powder
- 1 tbsp garlic powder
- 2 tsp chili powder
- 1/2 tsp cayenne pepper

Americanize your salad

1. Place potatoes in a large pot. Add enough water to cover potatoes by 1 inch. Add a hefty pinch of salt, then bring to boil. Reduce to a simmer, cover and cook until fork tender, but not falling apart, 12 to 15 minutes. Drain the potatoes, then spread them on a rimmed baking sheet. Sprinkle with salt and black pepper, then sprinkle with 2 tablespoons of the vinegar. Set aside to cool.

2. In a large bowl, whisk together the remaining 2 tablespoons of vinegar, the olive oil, mustard and tarragon. When the potatoes have cooled, add them to the bowl, as well as the cheddar, blueberries and roasted red peppers. Stir gently to coat with the dressing.

3. Chill for 1 hour to let flavours develop.

Hughes to GSP: Stay out of UFC

Former UFC welterweight champion Matt Hughes says Georges St-Pierre should retire for good.

St-Pierre has been on hiatus since vacating his 170-pound title following a controversial win over Johny (Bigg Rigg) Hendricks at UFC 167 last November. He cited unspecified personal matters, saying he needed time away from the sport.

Hughes, who lost the UFC title to St-Pierre at UFC 65 in November 2006, says now may be the time for St-Pierre to finish on a winning note.

"If I was GSP, I'd probably hang them up," said Hughes, now vice-president of athlete development and government relations for the UFC. "Here I am a guy that lost my (last) two fights and I'd love to get back in there (to finish on a win). And Georges got his hand raised the last fight."

"So if I had to give advice, I'd say, 'You want to get out? Get out.'"

Bouchard makes Wimbledon final

Beats Halep to advance. Third time's the charm as Canadian phenom advances to first Grand Slam final Canada's Eugenie Bouchard stumbled in her first two Grand Slam semifinal appearances this year.

The third time proved to be the charm Thursday at the All England Club.

Bouchard defeated Romania's Simona Halep 7-6 (5), 6-2 to become the first Canadian to advance to the women's singles final at Wimbledon. It was the latest achievement in what has already been a historic run for Bouchard at the sport's most prestigious event.

"After doing well in the past few (Grand) Slams, I've been believing since the beginning of the tournament that I can do really well," she said. "I'm just trying to take it one match at a time. It's really important not to get ahead of ourselves."

"I totally feel like I belong, and I'm just so excited for the next match."

The 20-year-old from Westmount, Que., has yet to lose a set in her six matches so far at Wimbledon. No Canadian had ever reached the women's singles quarter-finals here in the Open era — never mind the final — before Bouchard.

There could be a Canadian in the men's singles final as well. Milos Raonic of Thornhill, Ont., will take on Switzerland's Roger Federer on Friday with

The 13th-seeded Bouchard will next face sixth-seeded Petra Kvitova on Saturday.

I'm just proud of myself for today's effort."

Kvitova, the 2011 Wimbledon champion, beat fellow Czech left-hander Lucie Safarova 7-6 (6), 6-1 in the other semifinal.

It might be a gamble given his penchant for tweaking it and it's why Toronto is looking for frontcourt insurance as much as anything. Argentina to face Belgium blitz

World Cup. Red Devils coach sets up quarter-final match as team versus individual talent

So far none of Argentina's opponents has been able to stop Lionel Messi.

Perhaps Belgium has what it takes. But even if it doesn't, the Red Devils present a fresh challenge for Argentina at this World Cup.

For the first time in Brazil, Argentina faces an opponent with attacking potential that rivals its own.

"We will have to adapt, but what really interests me is to see how they will adapt to us," Belgium coach Marc Wilmots said.

Not intimidated

"I also saw they showed a lack of balance within the team and that they had problems."

Belgium coach Marc Wilmots, on the relatively mediocre play of Argentina so far

Argentina has struggled on its road to the quarter-finals, relying on single moments of Messi magic to break stalemates against mostly defence-oriented teams.

On Saturday in Brasilia, it's up against a young, sparkling team that's considered a dark horse for the title. Even though it needed extra time to prevail against the United States, Belgium unleashed offensive qualities in that game that could present major problems for Argentina's sometimes shaky defence.

Belgium fired 38 shots, half of them from midfielders Kevin de Bruyne and Eden Hazard, and strikers Divock Origi and Romelo Lukaku. An impressive performance by U.S. goalkeeper Tim Howard kept the score down.

Meanwhile, Argentina's attack hasn't been as fearsome as predicted. Centre forward Gonzalo Higuain is scoreless after four games and his attacking partner Sergio Aguero is out injured. Ezequiel Lavezzi is replacing the Manchester City striker but was largely ineffective against Switzerland.

Then there's Messi.

The little genius has delivered when Argentina needed him most, scoring in every group stage match and setting up Angel Di Maria's extra-time winner against Switzerland in the round of 16.

In a tight game, the Swiss shackled him successfully until his decisive run in the 118th minute.

"We knew that we would face a situation like that, but that's football and we had luck on our side," Messi said.

Wilmots was unwilling to compare the strengths of the two teams but noted that except for a few players, Argentina's performance at the World Cup has exposed some weaknesses. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Colombian fans unite around World Cup contender

Fans of the Colombian soccer team wave their flags in front of the hotel where the team is staying in Fortaleza, Brazil, Thursday. RODRIGO ABD/THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The euphoria in soccer-mad Colombia is deafening, and wonderfully contagious, ahead of Friday's do-or-die World Cup match against host Brazil.

Never before has the nation made the quarter-finals. Some are even waxing poetic about World Cup unity accelerating the pace of 18-month-old peace talks to end a half-century of conflict that has claimed some 220,000 lives.

Half the population seems to be wearing the canary-yellow national jersey, even on days Colombia isn't playing. And the merrymaking, from singing in the streets to collective game-watching on huge screens in public parks, is often so unrestrained that many big-city mayors have imposed bans on alcohol sales on game days.

The fear, of course, is that it all will be fleeting and the violence and intolerance that have long plagued the Andean nation will re-emerge at the tournament's end.

"Soccer has always worked as a tool of union and a tool for nation-building," said Alexander Castro, a National University sociologist. "But soccer is also as ephemeral as a particular game. And when this World Cup ends it will be like a passing fad, and we'll be back to our old habits."

Not since Colombia drubbed Argentina 5-0 in a 1993 World Cup qualifier has the South American nation of 48 million been so enthralled by the beautiful game.

"Colombia is going to make it to the final because it has the fundamentals and preparation, and (the players) have great courage and desire," said Leonardo Soto, a 23-year-old paralegal in Bogota. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Soccer-crazed country

No country's fan base is apparently as dedicated as Colombia.

- Out of 19 surveyed in a pre-World Cup poll done by YouGov.com, just 6% of Colombians weren't interested in soccer, followed by Mexico with 8% and Argentina with 10%.

- The U.S., by contrast, had a 60% apathy rating.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23
Yes, of course, you have a right to say what you think but don't forget that others have the right to hit back if they so choose. If you clash with someone whose ideas are at odds with your own there could be fireworks today.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23
What happens over the next 24 hours will bring you down to earth with a bump but maybe that's good. Your head has been up there in the clouds a bit too long. Come back to reality.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23
You have allowed certain people to get away with things they did not deserve to get away with. Now you must balance things out and see to it that they pay for their mistakes.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22
If there are any loose ends in your affairs, you must deal with them over the next 24 hours. If you leave them flapping in the breeze they will trip you up sooner or later — likely sooner.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21
This may be a difficult day for you but it can also be a day when you learn something to your advantage. If you are torn between the future and the past, choose the future.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
There is no point trying to force the pace because the Sun opposing Pluto in your sign won't let you — and will remind you where the real power lies. Also, focus on finishing what has been started.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19
The quality you most need today is patience. Come the weekend you will be able to start doing things again but over the next 24 hours control your urge to push ahead.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20
For some reason you seem to be afraid of your own shadow — even though most things in your life are going well. Don't let fear hold you back from doing something creative today. Once you start your confidence will return. SALLY BROMPTON
